Washington, Feb. 17.—Some little ex-ditement was created in the house of publican senators held a caucus washington, Feb. 17.—Some little ex-citement was created in the house of representatives just before that body convened today by the discovery of a slight blaze in the flooring of the east reserved gallery. The flooring had be-come ignited from a defective flue in the Derrocratic cloak room, and when discovered about fifteen feet of the floor was ablaze. The blaze was ex-tinguished and the members suffered no inconvenience when the house met. no inconvenience when the house met reading of the journal, Mr. of Texas called attention to the fact that through an error in the record

Mr. Littlefield then arose to a ques-Mr. Littlefield then arose to a question of privilege in connection with some remarks made by Mr. Sulzer of New York last Saturday. He charged that Mr. Sulzer on that occasion had misrepresented him in various ways. He said Mr. Sulzer subsequently had corrected his remarks to make it appear that he (Mr. Littlefield) was present, and he characterized the alleged misrepresentation as "deliberate, premeditated and intentional." He read a newspaper article inserted in Mr. Sula newspaper article inserted in Mr. Sulzer's remarks describing the alleged genesis of the Littlefield bill, and commented upon the statements made in the article, denying them seriatim. mented upon the statements made in the article, denying them seriatim. He declared, among other things, that the anti-trust bill had been prepared by himself and the other members of the sub-committee of the judiciary committee after, consultations with the attorney general. He also denied the reports of an alleged conference between the president and himself at which the president was represented as displeased with the Littlefield bill.

Mr. Sulzer replied to Mr. Littlefield in a semi-humorous vein. He spoke of Mr. Littlefield's speech just made as his "defense" for his failure to pass his anti-trust bill in fuifillment of his alleged promise to his constituents last summer to "pass it or know the reason why." The issue raised by Mr. Littlefield he denominated a "mere quibble," which demonstrated the gentleman's inability to be "fair, decent or courteous."

DURING A QUARREL Butte. Mont., Feb. 17.—A Miner special from Great Falls says:

M. B. Markham today came into the city and gave, himself up to the sheriff. He said that four days ago he had an altercation with Dan Anderson in his cabin and killed him. He claims that he acted in self-defense. When he was asked why he had wafted as he did before coming in before giving himself up. he said that the weather was cold and the dead man would keep until he got time to come to town. Anderson was a sheepherder and Markham was engaged in hauling wood for the Fort Assinoidolae authorities.

He said in conclusion that the resident membership of the club represents eighteen-twentieths of the wealth and business interests of the city, while the non-resident membership represents twelve-hundredths of the wealth and business interests of the entire state. The secretary also deprecated the hard feelings which had been engendered between the club and the council by the stand it had taken, but inasmuch as the position of the club was for the masses as against the few individuals, he could not see how it could well be avoided. He cited the fact that the members of the council who are opposed to the waterward and the second are deposed to the waterward second and the second are deposed to the waterward second contract. who are opposed to the waterworks bill are the only citizens who have ap-peared before the senate committee on municipality laws and spoken against the measure.

Endorsed By E. F. Holmes. The bill was further endorsed by President E. F. Holmes of the club, who wired from Los Angeles last night as follows:

Solution of the Problem.

To F. S. Richards was assigned the topic of a solution of the question. He said it lay in legislation. The Wyoming laws were cited as an example. That state was the pioneer in handling the question, and while its laws are admirable, they are defective to a certain extent, and can be and are yearly being improved upon.

His opinion was that the only way the side of the said of the said to permit of improvements now impossible.

No figure was discussed for. The matter was discussed of raising the city and county tax limits, if necessary, to meet the increased expenses which the improvements would encourage. This raise the committee disapproved on the ground that it is not needed. It was urged that it is not needed. It was urged that it is not needed. It was urged that it is not needed.
